

Molly Phillips

Molly is a biologist with a background in evolution, ecology, and natural history, which includes ten years of experience working with natural history collections. As the Education and Outreach Coordinator, Molly is responsible for coordinating and implementing the E&O activities of iDigBio and communicating and facilitating coordination and networking among the TCNs in order to promote, encourage, develop, and implement relevant E&O and related Broader Impact activities.